Dearst Belive,

I don't know where the U.S.C. bus stops but I will be able to be in Salt Lake early enough to find out before the bus arrives. If you get a ride with someone I will meet you at the place you name or at the U.S.C. Depot.

I am glad you can come because this is a "Blue world without you". May we will have time for a swim in the Great Salt Lake.

Yes I hope we will be able to attend Sunday School and Church together regularly, because joy comes from doing good & there is plenty of good to do there.

Ortime I have been trying to figure lately. My figures tell me there isn't enough wrapped up in these clothes of mine to pay a girl, who has a constitution as strong as yours, to think of writing until a mission is filled for me. If you think you want to change your mind don't be afraid to let me know because this is a free ^{country} world for ~~anything~~ everyone who keeps as near the right track as we have been.

I too have been watching the moon grow larger from night to night. Saturday should be the night it is the largest. "A perfect setting for letting dreams come (partly) true."

Good afternoon sweetheart!

Edmond.
