

Friday 13 July

Dearest wife & son -

It's noon here just now and time for a few lines that I should have written to you last night. We had a flock of rifles to clean last night which took till after hours about 9:30 then it was bed time.

I am sitting on my foot locker a box about like I made for Walter. one foot on each side & on the other end is the desk or writing surface. So you can see why this writing is so much scribbling but at least it will carry the idea to you that some one out here in this big flat state loves you.

We will be out till midnight so you'll miss a letter this night too.

So long my love with lots of love to you

Smile -
